1. Honest Ben and the Two Tribes He Hath Left Us
by Gabriel Andrew Ready .................................................. 7

2. Knowledge Ill-Inhabited: The Subjugation of Post-Stratfordian Scholarship in Academic Libraries
by Michael Dudley ............................................................. 27

3. Spinning Shakespeare
by Don Rubin ................................................................. 63

4. A Nearly Forgotten Article by J. Thomas Looney
Introduction by James Warren ........................................... 79

5. Is Greene’s Groats-worth of Wit about Shakespeare, or By Him?
by Robert Prechter ........................................................... 95

by Julie Harper Elb ............................................................ 133

7. Subliminal Chaucer in Shakespeare’s History Plays
by Michael Delahoyde ..................................................... 153

8. The Rediscovery of Shakespeare’s Greater Greek by Earl Showerman .......................................................... 163

9. Oxfordian Theory and Continental Drift by James Warren ............................................................. 193